Step 4.

Download information within chapters

Each chapter page contains the following information:

Downloadable PDF containing the chapter, attachment tables and data quality information.

Excel tables containing all performance and contextual data referred to in the chapters.

Step 5.

Read more within the chapter tabs

Each chapter page contains further information as HTML within tabs:

Key facts

Indicator framework

Indicator results

Indigenous data

Contains some basic descriptive information and numbers relevant to the service area and its objectives.

Key facts

Indicator framework

Indicator results

Contains a graphic of the performance indicator framework for the service area including outputs and outcomes.

Key facts

Indicator framework

Indicator results

Indigenous data

Contains a summary of the performance information for the service area. It is important when using material from this summary to also look at the caveats in the associated attachment tables (the attachment table is referenced under each piece of performance information).

Key facts

Indicator framework

Indicator results

Indigenous data

Contains a reference list on which attachment tables contain performance data with disaggregation by Indigenous status (or for Indigenous Australians).

Step 6.

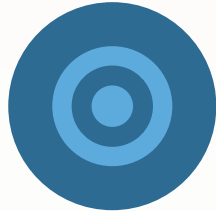

Navigate within the chapter

There is a generic structure within each chapter which includes the following:

Profile of the service

Provides important contextual information to understand the service area and the performance results.

Framework of performance indicators

This lists the objectives for the service area and a figure of the indicator framework (as per the Indicator framework tab on the chapter web page).

Key performance indicator results

This provides information on the performance for each indicator in the framework drawing on the data in the attachment tables. It is important in interpreting these results to consider the associated indicator interpretation boxes in the chapter and the associated attachment tables (both are clearly referenced in the chapter).
