

It is essential to maintain the control and funding of medicine in the public arena to avoid the private sector creaming off profits at the expense of and loss to those who cannot afford to insure themselves

Rob McMurdo