

Brief submission

The Public Health system, even though under constant budgetary assault, provides far better health care than the private sector. Nurse patient ratios are always worse in private health facilities & the number of experienced Nursing staff is also lower at the coal face due to cost. Our ageing population deserve to see the fruits of their labours by receiving decent health.

Dave Crain