

As a victim of domestic violence participating in the census has caused me a lot of anxiety. The current system does not consider people who might be facing these circumstances.