

The Australian Public Health system is the envy of most other parts of the world we do not wish to change healthcare to resemble the US dollar driven model. Our tax dollar should be spent on health and education before dodgy planes and tax cuts to big business. I am alive today although in remission from leukaemia because of our wonderful Medicare system which must remain in the public arena and equitable for all Australians not just the wealthy as elsewhere in the world.

Verena Hunt