

Brief submission

Private organisations expect a return on their investment. Health, education and transport should remain not-for-profit entities and should therefore remain in the public sphere.

Anne Gilmour