

To whom it may concern

We are writing to you as a family impacted by the proposed changes to the curfew hours at Sydney International Airport.

We believe that the draft report of Sydney Airport Master plan to 2039 is outrageous. The fact that residents were only given 24 hrs notice to attend. I wonder if the 24hr notice was deliberate so that the push to get rid of the curfew and cap on aircraft movement. Airlines have managed with the curfew time as they are. The current system works fine so why should it change.

Currently the flight path is tolerable as we know we do get respite from the noise from time to time. Although reasonably acceptable now the level of concern would increase considerably if longer operating hours were permitted. So, to have to planes overhead 24/7 would no doubt be detrimental to our health and overall quality of life with high levels of noise and air pollution.

Over the years numerous studies by various organisations have been undertaken which confirm our concerns.

Please take into consideration our plight.
