To Whom It May Concern,

I have seen some recent media on the psychiatric screening of children and babies.

I have personally witnessed not only the physical but the mental damage psychiatric treatment does for a person. From not being able to stand still, constant moaning in pain and even death.

To give treatment to anyone, especially an infant is absurd and psychiatry is NOT the solution and should in no way be approved or used EVER.

Look at the statistics of death and suicide, murder and mass shootings. Almost every single one of these people were on some sort (or cocktail) of psychiatric drugs.

Drugging is not the solution. Never has been and never will.

The screening of children and infants should not be considered at ALL.
