

To Whom it May Concern:

I was told by my mother in law about the ‘social and emotional wellbeing checks’ for 0-3 year olds that she saw in the newspaper and I do not think that this should be approved.

I have two children of my own and I definitely don’t agree with these checks being done to such young children. Every mother knows that any normal baby will cry or exhibit some of these “symptoms” that are being checked for.

This will not help make happy and healthy children because it will lead to further actions and drugging.

Best,
Hayley
