

C 13-1-2020

Dear Sir,

I disagree with the idea that 0-3 year olds should be screened ^{for mental illness} using the method that is being proposed. The behaviour being examined seems like normal behaviour for this age group to me. It (the behaviour) also is far too random and subjective to be a good gauge of a baby's mental health.

Regards,

Hamza Benacek