

I think the proposal to screen children aged 0 to 3 for mental illness is absurd, and the use of pharmaceutical drugs on children in this age group is even more absurd.

Health services should do all they can to encourage breast feeding, and teach mothers how to breast feed if they possibly can. Resources are best spent on teaching and supporting mothers in looking after their infants.