

I am, and always have been happy to fill out my census, seeing it as a responsibility as a citizen, like voting. I do not however consent to my data being sold or in any way used commercially. That is not the social contract I entered into by filling out the census. This consent should be explicitly requested and should be opt in. If my trust is misplaced, my honest answers will be compromised in the future.