

Data banks will be expensive to maintain against a firesale. Also for state police and other policing authorities the privacy act is too restrictive. For instance it causes confusion of targets with innocents