

Brief submission

The standard of the people's health is directly relevant to the health of the nation.

Therefore the Health system MUST have a Public Agency. That Agency is Medicare, privatisation will render more people without health care and increase the size of both social welfare and policing even further, with a substantial lowering of the nation's living standard.

Therefore the Medicare system must stay in public hands.

Kaijin Kenisciehad