Re: Review of the Legislation Regulating the Architectural Profession

The Council of the NSW Chapter of the Australian Institute of Building has asked me to write to you in connection with the above.

The council are of the view that it is essential that the community are able to distinguish between a professionally qualified (registered) architect and others and that the term 'architect' should retain all professional connotations ie remain 'protected'. They are also of the view that suitably qualified persons should be able to be described as 'architectural draughtsman', 'architectural technician' or the like.
