Dear Alan Johnston,

Thank you for forwarding the Circular "Submissions, modeling workshop and public hearings".

Our submission does not require any complex or simple economic modelling.

Our submission requests that consideration be given to:-

"Widening the scope of the ACIS R&D scheme to embrace "vehicles" additional to passenger cars and specifically vehicles able to create far more efficiency under Australian farming conditions", Australian Rural Fire Authorities and special vehicles for use by all or main Shire Councils on roads but also on rough tracks"

For our submission to succeed the policy-makers need only to say;

"The ACIS scheme is open to vehicles other than passenger cars, providing the R&D in question contributes to:-

- (a) The reduction in imports into Australia,
- (b) The encouragement of export from Australia,
- (c) The creation of skilled employment."

We respectfully request that your committee considers this proposition.

We are not an Australian business but currently only a British one and we feel sure that our proposition will find support from a wide cross section of Australian opinion and from some of the firms who have already responded to you.

We would appreciate it if we could be kept informed as we are some distance away.

Thanking your for your assistance.

Yours sincerely,

G.A.B. Edwards.
