

In NSW all children have always had the right to an early childhood teacher within their service,
When you provide care to a child, even to a baby, you are helping them learn about the world.

In restricting early childhood teachers to the children under 3 years you are reducing the educational opportunities available to babies.

It is also important that we retain funding for 3 year olds in a preschool setting.

30/2/14