

No monetary threshold specified

The issue I would like to discuss is the monetary threshold at which the Executive Remuneration regulations will become applicable. Several of small to medium businesses (below $20M) are existing due to their directors and shareholders contributing at the level, which unless rewarded will become extinct and lead to reduction of employment opportunities.

I understand that remuneration enquiry is mainly relevant to the listed companies, however I trust it's important to stipulate the threshold – which also should be able to be linked to the CPI.
