

To the Productivity Commission Inquiry

We, as wheat growers, believe there should be a single authority to oversee the pricing of export wheat and have the power to veto when pricing is not in the interest of Australian wheat growers

The wheat grower should not be exposed to the abuse of multi national companies, governments, traders and equity dealers manipulating Australian wheat sales.

We have seen what has happened with the deregulated money market-the collapse of Lehman Bros which started the collapse of credit.

The United States brought down the financial market and it is their aim to control the world grain trade to their advantage
